

ASSOCIATION RECORDS DISPROVE OLIVER'S CLAIM OF IRREGULARITY

Convention Called for August 16 Is Called in Exactly the Same Way as Convention Which Nominated Oliver for Last Election—Driving Postoffice Employees into Line

That Oliver is making statements which he knows to be untrue when he says the convention called for August 16 is not regularly and properly called is absolutely shown by records in the hands of the secretary of the association, these records showing that not only is the convention properly called but that it has been called in exactly the same way as the convention which nominated Frank Oliver as candidate at the time of the last federal elections.

At the time of calling the last convention the officers of the Edmonton District Liberal association were P. E. Lessard, chairman, and James McGeorge, secretary, and it was by these officers and no other that the convention was called. Peter Talbot was then, as now, president of the provincial association, but then as now gave no instructions to the local officers of the Edmonton district, called no meeting of his executive, nor did he appear in Edmonton at the time of the convention.

This can be absolutely proven from the records in the hands of the association. If Frank Oliver or Peter Talbot wish the electors to believe that the convention of August 16 is not properly called they can furnish as evidence a copy of the instructions sent by Peter Talbot to the chairman of the district association at the time of the last convention.

One of the latest stunts of the Oliver gang is to tack up notices in the post offices throughout the district to the effect that the convention called for August 16 by the chairman of the Edmonston district association is irregular and that Peter Talbot is the only great fountainhead of authority in the province.

In the meantime, the OLCV executive committee was notified that a meeting would be held in the OLCV headquarters on November 11, 1968, at 10:00 a.m. The meeting was held in the OLCV headquarters at 10:00 a.m. on November 11, 1968. message which the post office employees received was that they must work and vote for Oliver. Employees of other departments have not received the notice in quite as blunt form yet, but the idea is being conveyed negatively.

HO! A ROYAL TREAT BOOKED AT THE EMPIRE FOR WALSH

The Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir Booked for This Popular Playhouse, September 23 and 24—Great Spectacle of Rare Number Promised

The management of the Empire Theatre begs to announce to you that it has booked the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir for September 23 and 24. The province of Vancouver, has to say of its choir:

"There was a wonderful climax to the concert given by the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir at the Vancouver Opera House last night, a climax which showed how the silver-voiced choir from Wales had touched the hearts of hundreds of their kindred who were in the large audience. As the strains of the Welsh national anthem—"Land of My Fathers"—rose, Madam Hughes-Thomas turned to the audience and made a gesture of invitation. It was not needed, for the Welsh people were already on their feet singing as if their hearts were braving with longing, the grand refrain of one of the noblest national anthems ever written.

First in Welsh an then in English the refrain rang, and the audience was given a taste of the congregational singing for which the choir are noted. These Welsh people in the audience followed the waves of the balcony as if they were a trained choir, and their example was infectious, for the whole audience sang "God Save the King," the Opera House has never heard of.

Madame Hughes-Thomas and her girls covered themselves with glory, not easily the finest musical acrobatic that has been heard in the west. The choir sang out a marvellous volume of sound, and their rendering of "Gairdeas in Arms," a distinctly male voice composition, would put many men's choir to shame.

All of the girls are celebrated prize winners. They are all soloists, and they have the faculty of the Welsh race, or losing themselves in their singing, forgetting audience and everything in the sheer joy of the music.

Alfred in Welsh national costume the choir opened with the war song of Wales, "The March of the Men of Harlech," treating this sweeping and inspiring composition with the fire of the cello face. The second item was "The Harp" and this was followed by "Glynn Aberdydd" (Bells of Aberdydd) very majestically handled, and for all their Welsh piety the choir was enraptured. They closed the first part with "Andalusian Bolero" (Dressure) and "Sweetest May" (Rhapsody), and an encore sang "God Bless the Prince of Wales," giving both English and Welsh versions. The other items were "The Shaw" (March), "Where the Herd Sings" (Bishop), and a medley of plantation songs. Beautifully balanced and exceptionally favored in the matter of contralto voices, the choir secured one of the largest hits recorded at the opera house.

The solo work was a delight, and a revelation to music lovers. Miss Negan Harris is a young contralto of whose voice will be heard. Her rendering of the "Iris Homeland" was one of the finest things heard in Vancouver. She sang with a note of longing and a hint of tears and was expressed in music what hundreds felt.

Miss Iona Rossman, a clear soprano, sang the inspiring "Gairdeas in Arms," composed by Dr. Parry, and the stirring harmonies of the refrain, in which Miss Emmott was aided by the choir, caught the approval of the audience, who shouted a repetition.

Miss Alice Lewis, who sang "The Emancipation March," is a finished contralto, with a voice of exceptional range and strength, and she scored a great success.

Miss Negan Langdon to whom, fell Lerner's haunting song, "My Ain Folk," is another contralto of rich tone.

Miss Beatrice Langford, who sang Sullivan's "Poor Wandering One," treated this difficult song magnificently, while Miss Lewis were considered by Miss Iona Owen, who sang "Killarney" to a novel and pretty humming accompaniment by the choir.

Miss Emmott and Miss Lewis sang Glover's duet, "Tranquil Night," and their voices blended beautifully.

CAPACITY OF HOUSE WILL BE REQUIRED

SUBSCRIPTION LIST TO NORDICA CONCERT WILL PROBABLY DEMAND ALL THE SEATS

The subscription list for the Nordica concert, in the Empire Theatre, was opened a few days ago and it is rapidly with which it was signed is any criterion it is only reasonable to suspect that the entire house will be sold entirely by subscription. Those of you who want to hear Nordica can by telephone put your names on the list and by doing so will be sure to get good seats as you will have the first choice.

The management have had letters from outside points asking to save seats and as we want to protect the regular patrons for first choice, would ask as a special favor that you do not have your names off the list too long.

The management of the Empire Theatre take great pleasure in announcing that they have secured for the fall bookings some of the best attractions that will be seen in any city in Canada namely:

Nordica, on the first of November; Jan Kubelik, perhaps the world's greatest violinist and the Russian Countess Swietky, dramatic pianist, interpretative dancer; the latter two attractions will be the latter part of November and the first of December. The correct dates will be given later.

The preservation of health means the prevention of disease.

If you will take proper care of your body it will help you to be "come" body.

Alice Sher, in that nifty song show, "The Sunny Side of Broadway" at the Empire Theatre.

A BIBLICAL DRAMA OFFERED AT BIJOU

COMPLETE STORY OF THE DELUGE FROM THE BUILDING OF THE ARK TO RETURN OF DOVE

In the Bijou program for the last half of the week the great Biblical drama "The Deluge" will be presented in moving pictures. An excerpt from "The New York Picture World," a periodical devoted to finding pictures and offering them such classes of entertainment, describes this production in the following language:

"Probably everybody has formed a conception of the deluge, which is a mental picture of a huge house-hoat, a crowd of enormous people, hanging about and taking fun of the hoary-headed old man and his sons who have for years been constructing this boat. Then comes the procession of animals into the boat and the burst of waters, which overflows the seething people outside, while the ark rides to safety with all its motley collection of animals and people. The staging is as elaborate as anything underlain in a long time, and the reproduction of the scenes which have been indelibly impressed upon the minds of the people since their childhood are so faithful that the audience sits almost spell-bound as the scenes follow each other in quick succession. The scene of the drawing of the multitude is one of the most realistic ever put on the screen. And there is a half cannon fall over the scenes as the ark is seen floating serenely upon the waters which have overwhelmed the world. Then comes the episode of the raven and the dove—both reproduced as described. And finally the grounding of the ark and the return of the animals to the world—now a dead world—is re-presented. The entire picture is a marvellous rendition of one of the most dramatic stories in all history."

Sydney Hamilton in that nifty song show, "The Sunny Side of Broadway," showing at the Empire.

PRETTY GIRLS WILL APPEAR IN "SUNNY SIDE OF BROADWAY"

Mat Bloom, the famous comedian, who has a remarkable record of brilliant achievements in farce, musical comedy, drama, and comic opera, will be seen at the Empire Theatre next Monday, August 14th, for three nights and one matinee.

The book and lyrics of "The Sunny Side of Broadway," were written by Boyle Woolfolk, whose name has long been associated with this line of work.

The purpose of the manager, star, and author, has been to create something unique, and the interesting characters tell an agreeable story of modern life rich in quality, humor, punctuated with wit and illustrated with scenes and ensembles that consistently belong to the situation in which they are placed. The lyrics and music are said to be the best ever written by Mr. Woolfolk and his wife, who have been called "The Sunny Side of Broadway" and a new one by Boyle Woolfolk called "Every Town Has a Broadway," which bids fair to become one of the reigning successes of the season.

After the enormous success Mr. Bloom made in his last visit to Canada in that popular musical comedy, "A Winning Miss," Canadian theatre managers requested him for a return to their cities and while his intentions were to tour the western provinces, he was prevailed upon to pay his annual of successes, that nifty song show, "The Sunny Side of Broadway."

In this piece Mr. Bloom has toured four times from New York to Prince Rupert and from north to south in the States but this is the first tour in Canada.

It is only necessary to mention Mr. Bloom's recent visit to recall his capability of pleasing an audience.

Paradoxically speaking, it takes less money to get ahead than it does to keep up.

J. E. Coughlin in the popular and nifty song show "The Sunny Side of Broadway" presented at the Empire.

Fashion's Fancies in Gotham and Paris

What the Ladies Are Wearing in the Great Centres Where the Laws of Fashion Are Made

(Union Press Service)
New York, Aug. 12.—In Paris as well as in New York, chiffon and voile are among the most popular materials. It does not crumple easily, is light of weight, comes in all colors and has a pleasing transparency that is not too self. The voile blouse can be made with little trimming, the most becoming to itself to cross-stitching and conventional embroidery. The background is excellent for intricate designs, and the conventional width of the blouse gives easy cutting of the material, and the frills and goads to let go. Collarless tops and short sleeves predominate. In white and cream colors, these blouses are effective, consistent and easily made.

Course laces are used on these new models, many Irish and Trench lace being most in evidence. Plain colors and another trimming much used on voile as piping, bindings and dropped plaques on bodice and sleeves.

Quite dressy, though often designed and worn for frolic and morning frocks, are the models in which the chiffon does not veil the entire frock, being used merely for a tunic or in combination with silk. Some of the most fashionable street costumes are made up with chiffon used almost or quite as freely as the other materials.

On the beach, the new models are largely of the chiffon, with deep skirt trimming and coat of the fabric.

(Evening Frocks)
When one passes into the province of afternoon and evening frocks, the possibilities of chiffon and kindred materials are almost indefinitely increased. The marvelous color schemes achieved by superposed layers of such materials have given the models of recent seasons their most beautiful notes. One hears much of the passing of this idea, of the restraining of heavier materials, and with dressmakers and designers have so heartily appreciated the possibilities and results in this vein, so much so that there seems little chance that women will be called upon in the near future to give up their chiffons.

A light-weight, full-length coat has become a necessary adjunct to the well-dressed woman's wardrobe. For the trip, travel and even for a day's shopping, a top-coat that will protect the thin summer gown is most acceptable. Practically all of the new coats are made full length and are cut on straight lines, which complicate the most popular material for the long coat, soft-finished tulle and ribbed silk that defy the rule.

The principal mode of trimming is the large collar. These are of varied shapes; the newest have the long-pointed effect, simulating a hood and finished off with a tassel. There are also many Cherillon Corday models, but the sailor collar is still the general favorite. Some of the coats show the shortened waist line. Some are cut with the separate skirt and waist, joined a few inches above the waist line, while on others the modified empire effect is obtained by the use of a wide belt or by means of trimming or buttons.

(Pendant Blouses)
Pendant blouses are noted on many of the models, and usually finished with a deep cut matching the trimming on the collar. The regulation coat sleeve is, however, in evidence. These coats are designed for general utility and can be worn on all occasions. Coats of light-weight broad cloth are also used extensively.

Velvet, satin, moire and broad are used for the most part. For example, a pounce coat will carry silk or light-brown buttons; a red-brown moire coat will have blue buttons, that exactly match the material are used on a light-weight cloth coat.

Golden brown and tan series is the favorite colors. These are combined with contrasting colors in the trimming. Stripes of black and white add a novel touch to many of the styled models. Two-inch bands of striped material are worn on the plain-colored trimming, and some coats are lined throughout with narrow striped silk.

(Coats and Skirts)
Cool, comfortable coats and skirts are being made of the finer, softer weaves of shantung silk, chosen in the natural biscuit shade, and also of soft satins and a favorite fabric called "silk-crepe" which closely resembles satin in appearance. A pretty model is of soft blue satin trimmed in quite a new way, with long silk ribbons chosen in a darker shade of blue. The skirt opens on the left side in panel effect revealing a long end of ribbon, not caught across with a dull silver button.

Some of the most attractive coat and dress sets, consisting of a sailor collar and large turn-back cuffs, are of white muslin or plain satins, with no further elaboration than the handkerchief hem. Sometimes, by the way, is a favorite feature on French gowns and accessories of almost every kind of fabric, and can be used with excellent advantage on neckwear. Where handkerchiefs cannot be introduced conveniently, yet in narrow heading is used instead.

Several types of neckwear are represented in the latest introductions from Paris. Foremost are the sailor collars. These come in embroidered linen and batiste, net and lace, and some of them are made of plain white material having colored borders matching the gowns with which they are to be worn.

The shawl collar, of embroidered satin or the handkerchief linen finds favor in the eyes of the large woman. These are cut like a flange in front and give a shallow V-shaped neck. The collar with scalloped edges is particularly attractive when worn with a dark-colored gown. Folded back cuffs that match are worn with it. A feature of many of the French sailor collars is the extreme depth and the back. This is a new note and promise to become very popular, especially with tall and stately women, of course. First and foremost among the gowns suitable for summer wear come the frocks of cool, pale-tinted linen, and their weight is extremely light, while they are refreshing to the eye even on the hottest days.

Sleeves of summer gowns or blouse adorned with trim, lace insertion embroidered or lace motifs, insets of both lace and embroidery, with piping on the cuffs are all correct. If one is taking to changeable weather, it is not too much of it to use.

Separate skirts are strictly tailored, and the skirt is not shown in the effect are either cut perfectly plain, trimmed only with stitching, or have a simulated tulle skirt, obtained by the use of bias bands.

Wide lace collars worn on coats and dresses are often bordered with lace, worked in a pattern, which gives weight to the edges.

Hoosier in every case matches the shade of the gown with which it is worn.

On the beach, as seen many black silk bathing suits with white capes, pailings.

TO FIGHT SHY OF LIQUOR QUESTION

WILL STOUTLY ENDORSE ACTIONS OF DEMOCRATS TO CONGRESS—BATTLE IN KENTUCKY

(Union Press Service)
Louisville, Ky., Aug. 12.—County conventions were held throughout Kentucky today for the purpose of delegates to the memorable state convention which is to meet here next Tuesday. The work of the convention will be confined to the adoption of a platform for the candidates for governor and other state officers, were chosen in the primary last month.

Several days will be exercised in building the platform for the democrats, and the fact that they must fight hard to win a victory in the coming election. Despite the success with which the democrats have been meeting in other sections the party leaders here are aware that Kentucky, which has been admitted a doubtful state since it went republican for the first time in 1865, is now more doubtful than ever.

This is due partly to the advantage of the republicans in holding in control of the state administration and partly to the fact that the state's increase in population, as shown by the recent census, has been almost wholly in the eastern districts, which are overwhelmingly republican.

It is expected that the democrats will endeavor to secure the endorsement of the party platform by the democrats in congress, and the party in the legislature. The party in the legislature is expected to be the party in the legislature.

PARISIAN COBBLER PECULIAR CHARACTER

Invented System of Historic Geography and in Leisure Made His Own Shoes

(Globe Press Cable)
Paris, Aug. 10.—The death is announced of M. Langon, of the French Institute, a member of the Academy of Sciences, and one of the best known historians in France. M. Langon, who was born in 1814, started life as a cobbler and repaired and made boots for a living until he was thirty. From a boy he had been deeply interested in history, and worked so hard that in 1874 he became keeper of the archives of the historic section of the French National Library.

M. Langon was the inventor of a system of historic geography, and his book on "France During the English Domination," his "Geography of Gaul in the Sixth Century," and his "Historical Atlas of Gaul from the Days of Caesar to Our Own Days," have become classics. He was a curious little old man with many eccentricities, and to the day of his death made his own boots and shoes on the cobbler's bench which he had set up for the purpose in his flat.

He used to receive visitors from all countries every day, and never hesitated to put aside his historic or geographical work to receive them. But if the visitor called when M. Langon was sitting, he was invariably asked to wait until he had finished his work.

RAPID PROGRESS ON McCAULEY SCHOOL

Structure Should Be Ready for Occupancy by the First of the Year.

Rapid progress is being made in the construction of the new McCauley street public school and from present indications the contractors, Phelan and Baison will have the brickwork completed by the first of September. During the early part of the season the work was delayed to a great extent by shortage of material and unfavorable weather, and when plenty of material did become available the roads were in such condition that it was almost impossible to haul it to the building site. Nothing is restraining the work at present, however.

The young mother named the child Henry Clay Binford, but soon abandoned it to the care of some relatives. Later the child was adopted by Mrs. Mary Trout of Richmond, but it proved sickly and died in July of last year. To grade up matters, young Beulah, who was then about 14 years old, was placed in the care of Beulah Binford to Raleigh, N.C., where she promised to remain, so as not to interfere with Beulah's marriage plans.

So far great encouragement has been given, and as the property is to be held solely for rescue work it is not thought there will be much difficulty in securing this amount.

We heard nothing but words of praise for the beautiful Doherty Piano and for our general line of small goods.

The Doherty "ORPHEUS," the "Player with a Soul," has surprised and delighted thousands and we did not wonder at the enthusiasm which it created. "I never saw a real player before" was the general remark.

NOW, LISTEN! We have completed arrangements with the Doherty Piano Co., whereby they agree to help us in our opening expenses. They offer to accept from us a $50.00 order on every instrument sold and thereby reduce our cost to that extent.

In consideration of this we offer you during the balance of this month a SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY DISCOUNT OF $50.00 on any Doherty Piano you may select, and at the same time you may still take the benefit of our Unique Deferred Payment Plan.

INCONTESTIBLE FACTS FOR THE RATEPAYERS

The passing of the Gas Bylaw on Monday will mean the introduction of a gas system which in all branches of its service will be exceeded by no other Gas Company in Canada. The advance it will make for comfort, for convenience and for safety will give it just claim to recognition as a most patent factor in making possible modern conditions of living in Edmonton.

Gas, in Edmonton, under the International Agreement will be cheaper than any other thing that is necessary to the comfort of the citizens. It will be the cheapest gas in Canada, according to output. There will be hundreds of families in Edmonton whose daily bill for all the gas they use for all purposes will average less than the price of one cigar.

The Company will carry this necessary and useful service into every section of the city. Every year there will be a demand for an increase in equipment at the plant and for extensions to the mains. The initial investment in the property will be $500,000 and the additions made from year to year will demand an expenditure of very large magnitude. If the business were owned by the city there would be increased taxation and a constant drain on the ratepayers to provide the capital required.

The agreement under which the Company will operate, protects every interest of the city. There is not in existence on the American continent an agreement which goes so far in safeguarding the public welfare. Six months have been spent by the aldermen, commissioners and city solicitor in preparing the contract and a most exhaustive study of the whole question has been made, with the result that a perfect agreement has been devised.

In making this contract with a private company the city is not departing from the principle of municipal ownership, but is only postponing municipal ownership until a little later. The city has reserved the right to buy out the company at a valuation to include nothing but the actual physical assets of the company, allowing nothing for franchise or good will. The city will buy a developed business and will pay nothing for the experience and expert ability of the company which is so necessary in the early years of the life of a public utility.

The Gas Company under the proposed contract will have no rights beyond those enjoyed by companies supplying coal or ice or similar necessities. Coal and ice are necessities. Gas is a necessity. The prices of the former are controlled by supply and demand, the price of the latter by an iron-clad contract. The former are delivered by wagons that occupy the streets and wear out the pavements. Gas is delivered by underground pipes that are noiseless and unobtrusive. Of all public service industries a gas company is the least obtrusive. Underground mains do not deprive any person of one inch of roadway or sidewalk.

It has become known that parties having at heart a desire to secure some of the citizens' money are endeavoring to incite a sentiment in favor of the city building its own plant. The hope of this small, irresponsible group is that in the event that the city could be misled into a venture with which it has had no experience, there might be a chance to make some easy money by selling apparatus and machinery to the city at a high price.

The ratepayers are not likely to be deceived by the eleventh-hour statements of those, who unhampered by the truth, set out on behalf of the Private Interests they represent to criticise an agreement which has been endorsed by all the people who have at heart only the interests of the city.

The fulfillment of the terms of this advantageous agreement is guaranteed by a cash deposit of $10,000 and by the reputation of a company of the highest standing.

Not a day passes but someone sells a piece of Edmonton real estate at a large figure, bought only a few years previous at a very small price.

In many instances this one piece of property has made them more money than they have been able to save from their business or wages in years.

Are you willing to be one of these fortunate ones? The same opportunities are being offered today with a greater assurance of profit than any of these deals made in the past, for the reason that Edmonton is now sufficiently established to warrant any industry or corporation locating here.

G.T.P. Addition

G. T. P. Addition has many advantages over many of the propositions offered today, because it is favorably situated in the vicinity of what will be the largest pay-roll district in the city and near the property purchased by the city for factory sites.

This property is high and dry; the prices are very cheap:

$90 to $200 per lot

and the terms easy—$10.00 cash and the balance $5.00 per month, with extension of time in case of sickness and a free transfer to the heir in case of death of the purchaser.
